INQUEST EXTRAORDINARY.—The following item, says the Idaho Statesman of February 21st, is sent us from Silver. The Silverites are evidently addicted to sp

EDITOR STATESMAN.—On the 14th instant Jack St. Clair, our enterprising constable, summoned nine good and lawful men of Silver City to act as jurors before Coroner Alpey (you know Alpey —he was a silent member of the legislature and general wood carrier for that honorable body,) to sit on the body of a Chinaman who had been dead a week.

The jury was sworn in by the coroner in the following words: "You and each of you do swear dat you will examine the pody vat is before you, (only it ain't now, but it will be after it is dug up) and you will examine into the pody and find out how he went dead, and vat was the matter with him, so help you Got."

In order to get at the circumstances of the case witnesses were examined, several of whom were females, an interpreter was required to give the jury the evidence in the case. Jack St. Clair, in his zeal to furnish witnesses took any Chinaman he could find, and accidentally found one of the homliest whelps I ever saw. He had but one eye, and had been in his early youth badly afflicted with the small pox. Mr. Knapp, one of the jurors, asked if that was the corpse, which caused the Hon. Coroner to rise to his feet and say: "Dis is no farce. I am the coroner of Owyhee, and I vas a member of the Idaho legislature, and if any of dese jurys vants to make fun of my court I will send him to de penitentiary, and, Mr. Knapp, you was not sworn in, and you don't belong to de jury anyhow." Whereupon Mr Knapp abdicted.

Yours, truly
SQUILLS.

P. S.—Two members of the jury in the above case have just ascertained that Alpey has failed to qualify and give the necessary bonds required by law, and they are about to prosecute the Dutchman.

The Avalanche, in alluding to the affair, says:

After a somewhat rigid and risible examination of the witnesses, the jury retired and soon returned their verdict:

We, the jury summoned to investigate the causes which probably induced the death of the Chinaman whose body was not before us, or any part thereof, find that the evidence adduced before us, tends strongly to convey the suspicion to our minds that the deceased came to his death by foul means and that we recommend that the body to be exhumed and competent white physicians examime the same.

NED BLAKE, Foreman.

HOW TO BE AGREEABLE IN A PRINTING OFFICE.—As many of our friends are modest when they call upon us, giving us great trouble in bearing the burden of conversation we will give them a few hints clipped from an exchange where by they can make themselves extremely sociable and learn everything connected with our affair at the same time: If you want to make yourself agreeable in a printing office, step into the sanctum first. If the editor is writing or proof-reading, take a seat alongside of him, and tell him how you started in business, about your dog, your horse, your wife and baby, or if you can remember, your boyhood's sports. Shold the editor manifest a disposition to be inattentive to your story, stick to it and go through with it. Should one of the compositors or the "devil" step up and ask for "copy," whether the proof is read, or if either is done, you should, by all means, ask what the article is about, and insist on seeing it. Of course the editor will read it for you, and profit by your opinion as to its fitness to go into the columns of the paper. After thus entertaining the editor, step into the composing room and ask each one of the hands as many questions as to the cases, letters, etc., as may be agreeable to yourself. Then begin to whistle. All printers are fond of whistling. Give them at least three or four jigs. Then sing "Milwaukee" and "Ham Fat Man." Before leaving the office you should take hold of the hand press, give it a pull and let it fly back, just to see how it works. Don't forget to squirt tobacco juice on the "devil's" feet, or examine everything in shape of matter on the stone, even if you do knock some of it into pi—that will only put the patience of the printers to a fair test. On leaving the office be sure to promise another visit at an early day, and our word for it, you will be held in "fond remembrance" for a long time.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

The Mormon Question.

Just now and for some some time past, the press of the United States is, and has been, considerably engrossed with what is termed the "Mormon question." So far as the mere question of religion or religious belief is concerned, we take it, that very few people care what that may be, either among Mormons, Shakers, Fourierites or others. It is [illegible] conceded on all hands that every man has [illegible] constitutional but an inalienable right not only to believe just what [illegible] able natural right pertains to the ch[illegible] he pleases, whether [illegible] to the existence, character of his fellow-man or But whene[illegible] and attributes of the Creator. under [illegible] ever any person or set of persons, [illegible] the garb of religion, whether honestly [illegible] fraudulently, undertake to set up a system of practice, either immoral and wrong in itself or in conflict with law, then society claims the constitutional right, and recognizes the moral duty, to interfere.

Now some, if not many of the practices of Mormonism, as taught and exercised in Utah are universally condemned as immoral in themselves, baneful to society in their influences, and declared criminal in the text of the law. Of this character is Polygamy. It is an institution obnoxious to the moral sense of a vast majority of the people of the Nation, just as negro slavery was and is. Every civilized nation of the globe has not only prohibited it, but has denounced against it the severest penalties. Yet, in a Territory of the United States which is presumed to be under the complete and entire subjection of the National Government, bigamy and plurality flourish, and are taught and practiced as a high moral duty. To say the least, this is indeed an anomalous state of affairs.

In dealing with this question our cotemporaries East and West, seem to be divided into two classes. The one favors the utter demolition of the whole system on the blood-and thunder style. It should be wiped out, say they, if it take the last man and the last dollar. The other proposes to let education, contact with the world, civilization, and moral influences, do the needed work. The middle course seems not to have entered the brain of the writers on the "twin relic." Now, passing by for the present the blood-and-thunder party, who would crush out at a single blow what is evil, let us look for a moment at the argument of those who expect that time and moral suasion alone will work a cure. Has the world, at any stage or in any part of it, ever either hoped for or attempted to repress crime by moral suasion alone? If education, enlightenment, moral influences, and missionary efforts alone can do it, why does the statute book of every civilized land teem with penal laws against crime? If railroads and commerce are sufficient, why is it that in England and France, and Massachusetts and New York the most stringent enactments against bigamy are to be found, and even with these the offence is not entirely repressed? We would not be understood as underrating in the least the potency for good of moral appliances—railroads, commerce and education But what we say is, that in the most highly refined and civilized society, while they may mitigate crime, they will not eradicate or prevent it. It has been found necessary for the protection of society elsewhere against the crime of bigamy not only to enact, but rigidly to enforce penal statutes. If this be so, where education, habit of thought, and every moral influence are opposed to it, how much more necessary is judicious and repressive legislation in a community where the thing inveighed against is upheld and enjoined as a religious duty? What would those papers say if, in their own States, some enthusiastic devotee of the doctrine of Moral Suasion would propose to expunge from their laws the statutes against bigamy and adultery, and trust to ships, railroads, school houses and churches to prevent the crime? If they did not succeed in laughing the reformer down, how they would belabor him for his folly and madness.

Experience and history teach us that such offences can only be repressed by the most stringent enactments, rigidly, firmly and certainly enforced. If Polygamy is a crime, (and what man or woman outside of Utah suspects that it is otherwise?) it can only be punished and prevented by wholesome laws judiciously and surely enforced. It is a libel upon our institutions and a shame upon the Nation, to confess that such laws cannot be carried out in a Territory of the United States. One of the wards of the Government—an organized Territory—drawing its life and having its being from the Nation, obedient to the dictates of a single man, carrying out implicitly his behests and following blindly his lead, snubs the Government and laughs at its laws! If all this does not partake of the ridiculous and present a perfect travesty on Republican Government, we should like somebody to say what would. It constitutes a huge joke, at which the Governments of the old world may well smile, and [illegible] ce, sneer. But we confess that we do [illegible] ink the remedy lies in an ocean of blood [illegible] the moral suasion dodge, but in the [illegible] of a little [illegible] on sense on the part of Congress, and of a little energy and judgment on the part of the Executive.

[illegible] Chamlers [illegible] been [illegible] in the A[illegible] having [illegible] in 1777, and he is [illegible] full possession of his mental fac[illegible] This fact is mentioned as an exception [illegible] rule, that age is not always a disqualification for public services.

Minerals in Utah.

Among the many sources of prosperity in store for the people of this Territory none offer greater inducements for the investment of labor and capital than our mines of iron, lead and copper—the three most useful metals known to man. Situated as we are, in the [illegible] and rapidly growing country far removed from the great manufacturing [illegible] of the world, the workers and [illegible] in the above mentioned useful and indispensable metals will be able in the course of time to successfully compete with the most forward workshops of the Eastern States and Europe. We have extensive mines of lead, iron, coal and copper lying at our very doors, only awaiting skilled labor and a comparative small outlay of capital, to yield up their unlimited resources. Every dollar's worth of such metal mined from the bosom of Mother Earth, and fashioned into useful articles, add so much to the real and permanent wealth of the country.

The time is rapidly approaching when a home market will be found for our surplus agricultural products. With the opening up of easy and cheap railroad transportation, our farmers will have to compete with the immense grain producing States of Arkansas and Missouri, and Nebraska Territory, on our Eastern boundary, and Oregon on our Western. In order to find a home market, we must turn the attention of a portion of our people to manufacturing pursuits. Foundries, mechanic shops and reduction works must be established, and our young men taught the useful trades connected therewith. Let a beginning be made by some company, and our word for it, others, seeing the profitable results, will soon follow the example.

One of the most abundant and useful of these metals, and one that is cheaply mined, is lead. There are extensive mines of this ore all about, capable of producing an inexhaustible supply of the raw ore, yielding from 50 to 80 per cent. of lead, together with a large per centage of silver. Works for the reduction of the ore, and the manufacture of sheet lead, lead pipe, shot, white lead and litharge for paint, can be erected at a small expense, sufficient to supply our home demand and for export to our immediate neighbors. Lead pipe, so useful in all countries, more especially in one like ours, requiring irrigation, could be manufactured here and sold at one-quarter the price now demanded for the same article abroad, and yet pay remunerative equivalents to the manufacturer. There is scarcely a single lead mine discovered in this country that does not produce sufficient silver to considerably more than defray the cost of extraction and reduction, leaving its enormous product of lead as a clear gain in the operation.

The consumption of lead pipe for city uses solely ought to keep a good sized manufactory constantly employed. With our abundant and free water, every garden and door plat could be adorned and beautified by its living fountains of pure, sparkling water.

Who of our enterprising citizens will be the first to erect an establishment of the kind we have indicated, and reap the rich harvest in store for the pioneer proprietor?

COMMENDABLE.—It will be gratifying to many of our citizens to know that a regiment of mounted rifles will soon be organized, under the immediate auspices and encouragement of General Meagher, to be known as the "Montana Mounted Rifles." It has not, we believe, been determined how many companies will be raised in Helena. It is the purpose of General Meagher to turn over to the mounted rifles the fine stand of arms and the large supply of ammunition delivered to him last fall by Colonel Sawyer. The regiment will be thoroughly organized and equipped, tastily uniformed, and both a credit and protection to the Territory. We are confident the General will use discriminating judgment in the conferring of commissions in his corps, as we conceive that upon this mainly depends the success of the organization, and his experience has certainly taught him that its usefulness will be no less dependent upon his judgment in this matter. There is better material for such an organization in Montana, we confidently believe, than can be found elsewhere, and we are sanguine that General Meagher will see that the officers are worthy of the men.—Helena Gazette.

PROBABLY the smallest steamer afloat is the Anson Stager, which has lately been astonishing the people of San Francisco by her performances in the bay. She was built for the use of Colonel Bulkley, of the Western Union Telegraph expedition, and calculated to run up small rivers of the Asiatic and Northwestern American coast. She is about the size of a No. 1 Venetian gondola, 45 feet in length by 9 feet breadth of beam, with an upright boiler and oscillating engines. Her cabin, which is luxuriously furnished, can accommodate twenty-five persons (sans crinoline) with seats, and she is as complete a little craft—of her size—as can be found anywhere. It is claimed that she can make sixteen miles an hour, or even a trifle more, with ease, and she is "all steamboat," from stem to stern.

CAPTAIN RYNDERS has bound a copy of the the New York Herald from its commencement. He proposes to dispose of it by raffle—selling fifty-five tickets at $20,000 each. One would suppose that the Captain would not part with such an inestimable politician's guide unless he was in want of money, and if he is in want of money the politics of the city of New York must be improving.—Boston Transcript.

PITTSBURG contains 500 large manufacturing establishments. It has 50 glass factories and 16 potteries, 46 iron foundries, 31 rolling mills, 33 machinery establishments and 53 oil refineries, besides miscellaneous works of almost every variety, the whole turning out an annual product worth about $100,000,000.

TAX ON BACHELORS.—In the Nevada Legislature, Mr. Mayhugh, of Esmeralda, has introduced a bill to tax all bachelors. The framer of the bill is a widower and has a large brood of children in Pennsylvania.

NO COMMUNICATION.—The Virginia Enterprise, of the 23d ult., says there is no communication with California by telegraph, and that no mails or stages are arriving from over the mountains.

A match between R. H. Hendershot, "the Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock," and Mr. Wm. Nevins, of Chicago, to drum for the championship of the United States, was to have taken place on the 16th of February, at the Chicago Opera House.

"CENDRILLON," a French version of Cinderella, is a spectacular drama in which are fifty or sixty young girls with but little more [illegible] than Eve had when she left the Garden of Eden. Oh, naughty New York.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, February 27.

In the Senate, a bill relative to the Navy was passed, with an amendment reducing the number of Cadets at large from twenty-five to ten.

An Act to amend an Act for the removal of causes of importance from State Courts to U. S. Courts, was passed.

Howard reported a bill granting a portion of the Military Reservation of Kansas for railroad purposes.

On motion of Sherman, the Compound Interest Note bill was taken up, the question being on the Senate substitute for the House bill. The bill which passed the House authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to redeem compound interest notes with new legal tenders not to exceed $100,000,000. For this the Senate Finance Committee proposes as a substitute the bill passed by the Senate two months since, authorizing the redemption of maturing compound interest notes with loan certificates bearing 3 per cent. interest. The substitution of the Senate bill was agreed to.

Sherman, from the Finance Committee, offerred the following: That no National Bank shall receive or pay interest on any portion of its paper, when deposited in any other bank; and compound interest notes shall not be held to be part of their capital stock after the 1st of July next. Agreed to, and the bill as amended passed.

Trumbull reported adversely on House bill amendatory of the Act defining the officer who shall act as President of the United States in case of the death or disability of the President and Vice President, and moved its indefinite postponement. Agreed to.

The House Naval Appropriation bill, which appropriates $16,229,933, was passed.

The bill to quiet land titles in California was agreed to; the Senate receding from its amendment inserting Placerville, and the House receding from its objection to Petaluma.

The House has been in Committee of the Whole.

New York, February 27.

The Commercial says financial affairs are unsettled under the uncertainty as to the disposal of the Military Government bill, and the settlement of the currency question, as it is felt that the consequences of contraction must affect the sources of the money market.

Philadelphia, February 27.

Six houses belonging to Pierce Butler & Tate, corner of Fifth and Callowhill streets, were damaged by fire this morning. Loss, $30,000; no insurance.

Washington, February 27.

The President has approved the resolution to extend facilities to American citizens engaged in the survey of a ship canal route across the Isthmus of Darien.

New York, February 27.

The report is that a Fenian envoy has arrived from Ireland, who says the English statements that the rebellion is ended is false. The uprising was general. In the counties of Kerry, Dublin and Tipperary the organization is stronger than ever. The Fenians are under drill of 400 soldiers who served in this country during the Rebellion. As to reported disaffection among the British troops, he says it is understood they will march wherever they are ordered, but when it comes to firing they will know what to do. An American officer has enlisted 8,000 British troops since Christmas.

At the meeting of Fenians here to-day, no want of confidence in the movement was evinced. Several points proposed for conducting the Irish Republic movement were canvassed. It is said to be contemplated, if the vigilance of the British Government in Ireland should render movements there extra-hazardous, to transfer Fenian operations to England.

Washington, February 27.

The Tariff bill has occupied the House, in Committee of the Whole, about six hours today. Eighty-one out of two hundred and seventy-five amendments recommended by the Ways and Means Committee have been acted upon. A sharp debate of half an hour raised the duty on woolen flocks from 3 cents, as in the Senate bill, to 12 cents. Most of the recommendations of the Ways and Means Committee on wool and woolens are an advance on the Senate bill, and nearly all were agreed to.

The debate on flax lasted over an hour. The duty on raw flax was fixed at $40; hackled, $80. Russet hemp, $50; other hemps, $30.

Nearly all the amendments on iron are an advance on the Senate bill; most of them were agreed to.

At the night session, Senate joint resolution for the erection of an equestrian statue of General Winfield Scott, was passed.

New York, February 28.

Advices from the South state that it is supposed there will be twice as many white voters in Virginia as black.

The crops promise well, the only drawback being a scarcity of negroes.

The Supreme Court of Alabama has decided that President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation did not take effect in that State until May, 1865.

The Herald's special says that information has been received by the Secretary of the Treasury that steps have been taken towards forming an organization of English merchants, for the purpose of smuggling goods into the United States through Canada, in case the high Tariff bill becomes a law.

The Times' special says the country will be startled before the close of the week by a report from the Judiciary Committee on the Impeachment matter, indicating the progress they have made, and asserting the necessity of pushing the investigation in the next Congress, the developments thus far demanding its continuance. Those who believe the Committee have done nothing will find themselves seriously mistaken.

The President's veto of the Military Government bill is prepared. It is quite lengthy, and is especially devoted to the legal features of the bill. Its tone is firm, but respectful.

The veto of the Tenure of Office bill is also prepared. Besides objecting to the section including members of the Cabinet, the President objects to making the tenure of other offices during good behavior or for life.

The provision in the Army bill that the headquarters of the General shall be in Washington only, and that all orders shall emanate from the General, etc., is regarded as unconstitutional, and that bill will also doubtless be vetoed.

It is generally reported that Postmaster General Randall is to resign, and go to Vienna as Minister, in place of Motley.

The Herald's special says a force is organizing at Leavenworth, under General Hancock, to operate against the Indians in Kansas and Nebraska.

The World's special says the report of the Judiciary Committee, in the impeachment matter will be as complete a failure as the evidence has been to sustain the charges preferred.

The Tribune's special says that unless the House accepts the Loan bill as passed by the Senate yesterday, there is very little probability of anything being passed this session, as the Senate is unanimous against the House scheme. The Ways and Means Committee will endeavor to get the House to concur.

Baltimore, February 28.

The Radical State Convention met yesterday, and was numerously attended. Dr. Ohr, of Allegheny county, presided. Strong resolutions were adopted as a platform for the party in the State; universal manhood suffrage proclaimed, and the Conservatives of the State threatened with Congressional interference if the plan calling for a State Constitutional Convention is carried out, except on the broad platform of universal suffrage.

The same party held a large mass meeting at the same place last night. The house was crowded and speeches were made by Hon. Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, Hon. Columbus Delano of Ohio, and others, all in favor of negro suffrage. The President was denounced and the course of Congress commended.

Venice, February 26.

Garabaldi arrived here yesterday, and was greeted enthusiastically.

Paris, February 27.

One of the reforms proposed by the Emperor—the abolishment of the Reply to the Address from the Throne—is peculiarly unpopular. The Liberal party insist upon the preservation of this privilege.

In the French Court of Admiralty, in the case of the United States v. Amon Fils, the appeal of the United States from the decree requiring payment into Court of a certain sum for costs, was dismissed.

London, February 27.

The party under the leadership of Roebuck have resolved to join forces with the Liberals in Parliament.

The English Court of Admiralty, in the case of the steamer Alexandria, which U. S. Consul Dudley recently commenced suit to recover, has required the deposit of costs of suit, in the event of the case being decided for defendants.

To the North—Mrs. Bunker, Mrs. Egglesston, Thomas Clark, E. L. Barry.

To the East—J. W. Hammer.

From the North—Richard Cunningham, A. Hopper.

From the East—G. D. Stebbins.

A clergyman down East asked a woman he had baptized, as she was coming out of the water, how she felt in her mind, and was somewhat surprised to hear her answer, "Bully."

THE new Senate Tariff bill contains a clause forbidding the importation of fire-crackers. The prohibition was inserted by Mr. Fessenden, because the fire in Portland was caused by fire-crackers.

A COMPARISON.—A Wisconsin editor, in acknowledging the receipt of an exchange paper printed on new type, says it "looks as clean as a school-marm in a bathing tub."

HONORABLES James M. Cavanaugh, A. E. Mayhew, Mark Moore and Justice McCarthy are named as candidates for Congress in Montana. All but the last are Coloradans.

From Julesburg.

Fort Sedgwick, Col., Feb. 10.

Ns. News:—So much interest is centered e coming Indian campaign, and so little lly known of the Northern Indians, that ch of their daring and able leader may e amiss. I have gathered the following nation from traders who have been g the Indians for years. Fifty years ago ng Bear (Mah-to-io-ma) was the great of all the Sioux. He was killed by Cap- Curran in an affray near Laramie. His ssor was Little Thunder (Wa-ke-ah-cha- who fought General Harney at Ash By disease he was unable longer to s braves to battle, and he requested Young Spotted Tail (Son-ta-ga-lis-ga) d be chosen in his place, which was Spotted Tail was a brave warrior and e counselor, but in time he became too rvative for them, and advocated peace the whites.

d Cloud (Mah-pi-lu-tan), a young chief e Red Face (Etch-se-cah) band of the -la-lah) Sioux, was his opponent, as a pion of war to the knife against the -faced dogs."

first the reputation of Spotted Tail as a or and a wise man, and his authority as pal chief of all the Sioux, gave him such vantage over Red Cloud, that the latter enerally overruled, but after a time the g bravery exhibited by Red Cloud in war the surrounding tribes, and his vehem- loquence in council, gave him more in- e in the tribe, till he prevailed upon to fight, which they did in 1863-4-5.

is now about thirty-five years old, is cally one of the finest specimens of a untamed Indian; fully six feet tall, ht as an arrow, and active as a panther, a beautiful, half-breed gray horse, and ne a horseman as the world can pro-

[illegible] One of the most villainous attempts to create a panic came to light on Thursday afternoon. Three men of this city, who [illegible] who have hitherto stood high in connection with mercantile affairs in this city, engineered a scheme through that had for its aim the depreciation of Government and bank stocks, and but for its timely discovery would have ruined a large class of men. Having sold short they designed to depress stocks that they might buy low, and having answered their ends they intended to bull the market and make a fortune. They drew checks to the amount of $5,000,000, and had them certified in the different banks. Of course these $5,000,000 having been certified could not be loaned by the banks. Instead of depositing these checks as cash, they took them to private bankers and obtained on them $5,000,000 more, which checks were also certified. Thus they took out in one hour $10,000,000 from the circulation. One of these managers called in a $1,000,000 that was out on loan, and others did the same. By the same parties messengers were sent to all the bankers early on Thursday morning, warning them against loaning any money; they advised the calling in of all the loans, and announced that there was to be a terrible panic that would sweep everything away. The banks lent themselves to the vile scheme, though they did it ignorantly. These four men took out of circulation in one day the tremendous sum of $35,000,000. The scheme was exposed in the clearing house. One bank found to its credit $3,000,000 when it expected nothing. This led to an investigation, and the bank found that the certified checks drawn by certain parties had not been used. An exposure at once took place and the panic was averted. How much these men have gained by this attempt to create financial disaster the future will tell.—[New York Correspondence (January 17th) of the Boston Journal.]

DUEL BETWEEN A MAN AND A WOMAN. The San Antonia (Texas) Ledger has the following:

We heard of a duel yesterday, which came off several days since, between a lady and a gent, which indeed, is worthy of note. The facts are as follows: The gentleman some time since made the lady a present of a handsome pistol, by which she might learn to shoot, and, having become quite expert in the art, she thought she could excel him in shooting; and so they had it "up and down," one word bringing on another, until the excitement grew so great that she challenged him to try his skill in a shot at one another. He of course accepted; pistols were procured and loaded; the ground stepped off and the word fire given—the gent fell. The lady supposing she had killed him, rushed frantically to the spot where he laid, fell upon him with shrieks of agony, and raising him gently, pressed him fondly to her bosom. While moaning over the loss of the "once fond lover," he suddenly and once more stood erect on terra firma. The lady, overcome with joy, fainted in the arms of her lover, and he fondly embracing and kissing her, she soon revived. And oh! what joy was there witnessed—a scene rarely ever met with. The lady was not aware that the pistols contained no balls; the gent being posted acted accordingly. He seeing the fond attachment she had for him, made this remark: "Yours till death, and after death, yours forever." The report has it that the aforesaid couple are to be married soon. Long may they live and happy may they be.

A PARIS STORY.—A story, now current in Paris, is as follows:

A lady, in the first society, was recently obliged to dismiss her nurse on account of an excess of firemen and private soldiers too often repeated.

After choosing as a successor to this criminal a very pretty girl, explaining why the first was sent away, enjoined it on the second not to do likewise.

She admitted that she shouldn't.

"I can endure a great deal," said the lady, "but soldiers about the kitchen I won't endure."

After a week or eight days, the lady came one morning into the kitchen, opened a cupboard, and discovered a youthful military character.

"Oh, ma'am!" cried the girl, frightened, "I give you my word I never saw that soldier before in all my life—he must have been one of the old ones left over by the other girl!"

A PATENT medicine vendor, in New York, advertises pills and ointment that will cure the worst fit of any pair of boots.

A PARIS bookseller, being asked for a copy of the French constitution, replied: "I keep no periodicals."

ONE-PRICE CLOTHING STORE,

F Street,

SIGN OF THE GILT ANCHOR!

DENVER, COLORADO.

Is not the "Largest," but the MOST ELEGANT CLOTHING HOUSE in Colorado.

And from the East and to the West,
Are gentlemen dressed
In suits from Anker's Hall;
And none, as yet, was heard to regret
That he ever gave him a call.

He honestly deals,
And nothing conceals,
Regarding the wear of his clothes,
But speaks with the truth,
To man and to youth,
Which each of his customers knows.

Hence, friends, one and all,
Go to Anker's Hall,
Walk boldly—don't cowardly creep,
For there you'll find,
All obliging and kind,
With Clothing tremendously cheap.

The citizens of Utah, Idaho and Montana are at all times cordially invited to call at ANCHOR'S POPULAR CLOTHING HOUSE, when in Denver, and examine his most Elegant and Tasteful Stock of Goods, which will be sold at Prices Guaranteed Lower than the Lowest.
